Organizations.

IN THE ORDER OF THEIR ESTABLISHMENT.

Independent Congregational Church of Meadville.

Organized May 21, 1829.

Any person in sympathy with the spirit and purpose of this church may become a member of it by signing its Covenant: "In the love of truth, and in the spirit of Jesus, we unite for the worship of God and the service of man." No assent to a creed is required or implied. The right to vote at business meetings of the church is reserved for members who have attained the age of eighteen years, and who have within the year past contributed toward its expenses. Members may join the church at any time, and the right hand of fellowship is publicly given to new members on Rally Sunday, at Easter, and at other times when so desired.

The annual meeting of the church, preceded by a parish supper, is held in the Parish Building within the first half of January, on a date fixed each year by the Business Committee.

The Endowment Fund.

In the Endowment Fund the attempt is being made to build up a permanent fund, of which only the income may be used, so that the church may be rendered more secure of independence in future years. A permanent fund of $10,000 would put the church beyond any need of anxiety for its future. At present it is hoped to increase the fund by at least $100 a year; and contributions to it are invited in large or small sums. Offerings for this purpose should be so designated, and paid to the Treasurer. An annual collection for the fund is taken at Easter.

Amount on hand at the beginning of the year	$200.00
Received during the year	78.76
Total amount of the fund	$278.76

The Sunday-school also has a similar fund, known as the Birthday Fund.

The other invested funds of the church amount to $2,000.00.

The Treasurer's receipts for the year 1903 were $2,422.76.

The real estate of the church is held in trust for it by the following Trustees: Arthur C. Huidekoper, Edgar Huidekoper, Elizabeth G. Huidekoper, and Frederick W. Huidekoper.

THE CHRISTIAN REGISTER.

Published weekly at 272 Congress St., Boston, Mass.
Editor, Rev. George Batchelor.
Price, $3.00 a year.

This is the recognized organ of the Unitarian denomination in America. Every active and earnest Unitarian should take it, in order to keep in touch with the life and thought of his church. The Minister will forward subscriptions.

Notes.

Please keep this year-book at hand in some convenient place for reference. Do not let it get mislaid or lost. It will be useful many times in the year, and will serve to make you better acquainted with the members of the parish, and more familiar with its work.

The History of the Independent Congregational Church of Meadville, 1825-1900, has been printed, and makes a handsome book of about 100 pages, with five fine illustrations. Copies may be had from Miss E. G. Huidekoper. Price in cloth, $1.00; in paper, 75 cents. Ought not each member of the parish to have a copy?

Seats in the church are free, and its expenses are met by voluntary contributions. Those sharing in the benefits of the church, and able to give toward its support, are invited to make regular subscriptions proportioned to their ability.

Persons wishing to occupy the same seats regularly may speak to Miss Martha S. Cullum, who will assign them sittings, as far as possible according to the preference expressed.

The Minister asks to be promptly informed of all changes of addresses, and of the addresses of strangers or newcomers to the church on whom he or others may call.

Do you know of any one ill or in trouble in the parish, where the Minister should call or could be of service? If you do, will you be so good as to send him word by telephone or postal card? How else will he be likely to know of it until it is perhaps too late? Kindly bear such cases on your mind.

The Minister and his wife are glad to welcome members of the congregation, or strangers, at their home at any time. Mrs. Wilbur is at home especially Wednesday afternoons. The Minister wishes to reserve his forenoons for study as free as possible from interruptions; but he may usually be found at home afternoons up to 2.00 o'clock.

The Minister is glad at any time to converse with any that wish to inform themselves more fully as to the beliefs of Unitarians, or to furnish them with selected reading for the same purpose. He is glad also of opportunities to speak with persons that contemplate joining the church, and with parents that wish to have their children christened.

The tracts in the vestibule of the church are for free distribution. They may be taken in any numbers for home reading or for sending to friends. There is no better means of making our faith known to others.

The Post-office Mission Committee sends liberal religious literature regularly to those that wish it. Persons wishing to have tracts or papers sent to themselves or to acquaintances, are asked to give the names and addresses to the chairman of the committee, Miss Cora D. West, or to the Minister.

The Minister earnestly asks for the co-operation of all the members of the parish in the matter of parish visiting. It is their privilege equally with him to call upon their fellow-members in the parish, to welcome and introduce strangers and newcomers at the several meetings, to go more than half way if necessary, to give every one the credit of cordial good-will, and to help make all that turn to our church feel that it is a home-like place, which furnishes a center of sincere Christian brotherhood.

"Let each one of us say within himself, 'This is my church; I will do all in my power to serve it, and God and man through it; I will act under a sense of personal responsibility for its welfare; I will do my full part, both on Sunday and throughout the week,' and we shall go on from strength to strength." (From the Minister's annual report.)

Things to be worked for, and to be realized in future, and as early as possible: An addition to the Parish Building (the Alliance has voted to earn $500 toward it within the next two years); new hymn and service books for the church; the church grounds made as beautiful as they might be; a Minister's contingent fund, from which to meet many worthy appeals that come to him during a year and are now unprovided for; a safe in the Parish Building, for the keeping of church records and papers; a clock for the Sunday-school room; a suitable dressing-table and mirror for the cloak-room.

Parish List.

The following list is designed to include the names of all adults whom, on account of their membership, contributions, or attendance upon services, or for special reasons, it is fair to count adherents of this church. The list is necessarily imperfect, but it is hoped that it may tend to promote mutual acquaintance and sociability in the parish.

Please report any errors or omissions to the Minister.

Names of those that have signed the Covenant as members of the church are denoted by an asterisk (*).

For certain purposes it is convenient to divide the parish into four districts of nearly equal membership, as follows: 1st district, north of Chestnut St. and west of Liberty St., including Vallonia; 2d district, north of Chestnut St. and east of Liberty St.; 3d district, south of Chestnut St. and east of South Main St.; 4th district, south of Chestnut St. and west of South Main St., including Kerrtown and Fredericksburg. The figures preceding the names refer to these districts. It is urged that members of the parish make an especial effort toward knowing at least all those in their own district.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The autumn Quarterly Meeting of the Church, to be followed by a "house-warming" party given by the Alliance for the inspection and enjoyment of the new addition to the Parish Building, will be held on Thursday evening. Important business is to be considered and a punctual attendance of the members of the Church and Congregation is requested.

Through the "Calendar" collections the Alliance have been able to pay five hundred dollars pledged by them toward the building fund. But there remains still a pledge of five hundred dollars to be redeemed, and it is hoped that a general interest throughout the parish in the Bazaar to be held on December second and third will enable the Alliance to wipe out the greater part of their pledge.

The Rev. C. W. Casson of the Publicity Department of the American Unitarian Association will address the Theological School on Monday at 6:45 p. m., on "The New Missionary Opportunity."

The annual contribution for the missionary work of churches will be made on Sunday, Nov. 28. The amount desired is two hundred dollars, one half of which will be paid to the American Unitarian Association and one half divided equally between the Middle States Conference and the Meadville District Conference.

The treasurer of the church will be greatly convenienced if subscriptions overdue can be paid during the present month.
